The author of 'Hutledge' breaks a sleare of seven years with a store quite as bright and vivacions in style, as dramatic in its situations, and me thoroughly true to life as anything she has previously written. The characters are few and clearly defined, the plot not at all-involved, the ertuations and incidents always graphic, and often told with eval dramatic power and a genuine pathon which combine to make the nevel one tha will be universally read with thorough satisfaction and pleasance.

TUESDAY, Oct. 17-P. M. There has been great irregularity in the stock market to-day, and prices have been very much unsettled. The alarm and agitation of last week have given place to a more hopeful tone; but the money stringency, which continues in a mitigated form, renders it difficult to carry stocks, and tends to increase the number of sellers. The clique stocks, such as Ohio and Mississippi, Pacific Mail, and Western Union have been especial objects of attack; and the transactions in them were very large during the day, especially in Western Union, which was pressed sharply, but had a strong support. The fact that the Western Union has borrowed money for the pur-chase of its own stock, made during the last six months, has been used with some effect against it. The fortunes of the day hung dubiously in the balance between bull and bear side until in the afternoon, when prices gave way all round, and the market was quite heavy. Notwithstanding the feverish condition of the market, it is worthy of note that little or no remnants of the panic feeling of last week are to be seen, and there seems to be in its place a disposition to meet the crisis with courage and hope. The only obstacle to an immediate improvement in stock values is evidently met in the unsatisfactory condition of the money market, which under call for currency created by the Chicago fire, at a time when our banks were contracting, has -paper money-can be scarce for any length of time, it will be one of the wonders of political economy, unless ch scarcity is produced by a contraction of its volume. Its temporary employment at Chicago, or any other place may temporarily disturb a central point like this city, but, like water, it must soon seek its own level again. It was unfortunate that our banks should have been so nuch extended when the great disaster at Chicago struck Wail-st.; but that any prolonged difficulty can visit the money market we hardly believe. Prices at the opening of the stock market to-day were about as at the close yester-day, but the whole list soon went off 1 to 2½ per cent. A slight rally and steadier feeling prevailed in the afternoon, which was followed by weakness at the close. There eems to be no disposition yet to make long contracts, and it is a question whether the inflation process will be again called in to the aid of our confident bulls. The prenderance of business has centered in Western Union Pacific Mail, Ohio and Mississippi, North-Western, Lake Shore, Wabash, and New-York Central. A fairly moderate business was done in Reading, St. Paul, and Union Pacific. Harlen went off to 1201, on Commodore Vanderbilt's notice to the Stock Exchange of the sale on Friday next, through Messrs. Barton & Allen, of 10,000 shares of the common capital stock of the Company, being part of the 40,000 shares authorized to be issued at the meeting of the stockholders on the 11th of last April. Investment stocks have shared in the general temper of the railway list, miscellaneous and express stocks being neglected.

We have to record continued stringency in money, the rates being 7 per cent gold to 1-1633-33 of one per cent to the general broker firms, and 7 per cent currency of mercantile paper to the banks are very large and pressing, and are many times in excess of ordinary de-While the City banks are striving to their utmost to render all assistance in their power, and are affording accommodations to commercial borrowers even to the exclusion of the speculative class, yet they are unable to supply all requirements. The Currency novement is now very largely against us, and it is believed that the outflow thus far this week will not full short of $2,500,000 or $3,000,000, and almost estirely in legal tenders, National Currency being scarce. To these shipments should be added the shipments in the way of insurance payments, charitable donations, &c., and it would seem, as business afonsignments of goods are received there, the course would be turned in an opposite direction. It is thought that the resumption of business by the Chicago banks will prove beneficial in keeping up a full measure of confidence in the situation, though of course everything de ends upon the action of the local depositors of those institutions. We hope and presume, however, that they thoroughly appreciate the position, and will be governed
